

You Live, O God, in Utmost Light

Donald Bell and Maarten Ryder

$\text{♩} = 120$  Dm Gsus4 A Dm G A Dm7

You live, O God, in ut - most light, Yet li - ven earth-ly shrines. How love-ly is our hu - man lot, When in that light it shines.

G A A7 F A7/E D

1. You live, O God, in utmost light,
Yet liven earthly shrines.
How lovely is our human lot,
When in that light it shines.
2. As sparrows round the temple doors
Rejoice and lay their young,
For lively joy your love endows
Our ardent spirits yearn.
3. How blest are those who know your strength,
In deserts find your springs,
Who of your very presence drink,
And walk your way with songs.
4. From strength to strength in desert heat
You lead us stone by stone,
And build within the driest heart
A highway to your home.
5. Enough it is, enough, O God,
Your onward call to prize
And in your everlasting good
To trust our souls' repose.